PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

Sue Prezzano, CEN

As I sit here gathering my thoughts for my third President's message, I am amazed that it is September! Where does the time go? This has been a great year for our Council so far.

With the November meeting nearly here, we are looking for nominations for next year's officers. Elections will be held on Nov. 3 at Poughkeepsie. All of you have so much to offer the New York State Council. I encourage everyone to get involved. Having the support and availability of networking with your colleagues is invaluable. It doesn't take special experience or education. All you need to qualify is being a member of New York State ENA. Contact Carole West at e-caw@verizon.net with your nomination. (See Call for Candidates article.)

The Trauma Committee has been busy this summer preparing for the TNCC updates. Four of our council members went to Chicago for the updates and will teach the NY update. All instructors must attend an update before the new course can be taught. We will be having 3 classes this November at St. Francis Trauma Center in Poughkeepsie, NY. The dates are November 2, 3, and 4. The classes are slated for 8-hour days. Be sure to register early with Joanne Fadale tjmf40@aol.com. Classes are sure to fill up fast. There are improved testing stations, new chapters and a new text. New York State has 112 TNCC instructors. We hope to update at least 60 in November with the remainder in the following months prior to April, 2008.

Plans are underway for our Legislative Breakfast in January. This is your opportunity to speak one on one with your representatives about issues that affect our emergency health care. Come to the November 3 Council Meeting at the Poughkeepsie Marriott Courtyard to hear more.

I have great memories from Salt Lake City, Utah. Our 30 delegates representing 1900 New York State ENA members made a difference with their votes on resolutions and bylaw changes. They were strong and vocal in support of positive change. We increased our network of friends throughout the country and took advantage of the many great educational offerings. Lots of social events added to our enjoyment. Maybe next year some of you will want to get in on this great experience and join us at the National Convention in Minneapolis.

Your President,
Sue Prezzano

August State Council Meeting

BURN CONFERENCE A SUCCESS

Sandi Tetler

On August 10, 2007, Stony Brook University Medical Center and the Suffolk County Chapter of the Emergency Nurses Association sponsored an Advanced Burn Life Support course. Thirty people from surrounding hospitals participated in the class and were successfully certified. The class was funded by a grant provided by the Regional Resource Center for Emergency Preparedness at Stony Brook.

The first half of the day consisted of lectures, which were presented by educators from Brockport Hospital, CT and Stony Brook University Medical Center. The latter part consisted of various practice skill stations and testing much like a TNCC or ENPC course.

A big thank you goes to Connie Kraft who organized the course. The day ran smoothly allowing all to learn while having fun.

ENPC/TNCC News

Joanne Fadale, RN, BSN,
NYSC Trauma and Pediatric Chairperson

The following information about the new TNCC Rollout, the new administrative procedures and some reminders of items that need to be submitted to the State Chair at the completion of courses is being provided for ENPC/TNCC instructors.

REMINDERS FOR ENPC/TNCC INSTRUCTORS:

1. At the completion of any ENPC/TNCC course the Course Coordinator must send a copy of the Summary Performance Report to the State Chairperson as well as to National.
2. A Conflict of Interest statement must be completed by all instructors teaching at a course. The COI are to be maintained by the Course Coordinator for seven years.
3. At the end of each course, individuals that have been identified as potential instructors should have a Letter of Potential Instructor Candidate sent to the State Chair. This will allow the state to determine where and when instructor courses are needed and to be able to plan in advance for them.
4. The new national administrative procedures will apply to both ENPC and TNCC courses. TNCC instructors attending the TNCC update will receive the new procedures with the new instructor manual. It will not be necessary for ENPC only instructors to attend the TNCC update to receive the new administrative procedures, as they will be distributed separately to ENPC instructors.

TNCC UPDATE

The new 6th edition of TNCC is completed and printed. All TNCC instructors will be required to attend an update course before April 30, 2008.

A few highlights of the changes:

At the instructor update, all instructors will be required to return a demonstration of the new Spine and Airway Station, test and pass the new Trauma Nursing Process Station and complete and pass the new written examination. Upon successful completion each instructor will receive a letter authorizing the instructor to purchase the new instructor manual.

The fee for the TNCC Provider Manual Sixth Edition will be $45.00. All TNCC current instructors are required to purchase the new provider manual as soon as possible. It will provide you the information needed to successfully complete the update course. Manuals are available through National ENA on the web site.

The fee for the TNCC Instructor Manual will be $47.50. (New York State instructors attending and successfully completing a NYSC update will receive their instructor manual compliments of the New York State Council.) Instructor manuals cannot be distributed until an instructor completes an update course and receives a letter of authorization from the update coordinator.

The one day format is 8 hours which includes:

Review of the DVD lecture content (the DVD will be sent prior to the update course and must be viewed by the instructor to be updated)

Time for questions

Skill station review with return demo of Spine and Airway

TNP testing

Written exam

A few Key points:

- There can be no co-mixing of 5th edition instructors with 6th edition instructors to teach a 6th edition course.
- All instructors for a 6th edition course must have attended an update.
- The 5th edition course may be taught until May 1, 2008, and after that the 6th edition is required.
- Instructors from the state that attended the national rollout in Chicago are the ONLY faculty for the purposes of the rollout.

The first updates will be held in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. November 2, 3, & 4, 2007. The number of participants will be limited. For those instructors that attended the ENPC update a few years ago, the requirements are different. A ratio of 6:1 student/instructor must be maintained. All courses will be the one-day format.

ATTENDANCE AT THE NOVEMBER UPDATES WILL BE ON A FIRST COME FIRST SERVE BASIS. The deadline for registration was Sept. 15, 2007. If any instructor has not registered and wishes to attend one of the upcoming updates contact the State Trauma Chair immediately to find out if space is available.

ENA CELEBRATES EMERGENCY NURSES WEEK OCTOBER 7-13, 2007

Denise Harris

- The woman about to deliver in the taxicab parked in your ambulance bay
- The child who stuck peas in his nostril
- The skateboarder who broke his wrist doing a fancy flip
- The man with crushing chest pain
- The parents of a police officer critically wounded by gunfire
- A nursing home resident with pneumonia

In all these instances, an emergency nurse was there.

This year's theme for Emergency Nurses Week, October 7-13, 2007 and Emergency Nurses Day, October 10, 2007 is "Stepping into their lives when they need you the most". During this time, give yourself a much deserved pat on the back, celebrate your accomplishments, praise your colleagues for their endless dedication, and encourage the new grad to hang in there; it will get better.

The New York State Council ENA congratulates all emergency nurses for the work you do and the lives you save every day!

SAVE THE DATE

OUR SPIRITS WERE LIFTED!

Mary Schmidt Roth

This year's ENA General Assembly and Annual Conference was held in Salt Lake City. The theme "Lift Your Spirit" was reflected in outgoing President Donna Mason's speech to the national delegates. She gave a light hearted and interesting account of ENA's achievements in 2007. Among them are the updated Trauma Nurses Core Course, the ED orientation online course and a revised Core Curriculum. Incoming President Denise King presented her goals for 2008. Her focus will be on leadership and mentoring new leaders, so that ENA can "grow beyond our expectations."

The national delegates debated and voted on changes in the Nominations Committee and on requirements for national office. They voted to increase resources for pediatric emergency care and for disaster preparedness; and to endorse five level triage scales.

The Scientific Conference was a success with many great speakers and exhibits. Attendees praised the classes on Documentation and Liability, Toxicology, Chest X-ray Interpretation, Lessons Learned in Baghdad and Forensic Medicine among others. Nurses upgraded their CPR skills, tested their knowledge of drugs, learned new computer systems, and could take rides on stretchers while viewing the exhibits. Some took home prizes of I pods, DVD players, stethoscopes and gift baskets, along with pens, ACLS cards and other goodies.

The conference was also a social success. Donna Mason invited everyone to an Oktoberfest in the mountains. Stryker treated attendees of the Opening Reception with lively music and dance and the Beatles were featured at the ENA Foundation Party. Some explored the national parks, such as Arches, for their spectacular beauty. Others took a dip in the Great Salt Lake and some visited with the bison and antelopes. The local microbreweries provided samples, food and fun.

The 2007 convention in Salt Lake did lift our spirits, enlighten our minds, and gave us energy to bring back to our EDs!
