

Deb Delaney, DNP, MHA, RN, CEN

Deb Delaney has nearly 30 years of experience as an emergency nurse and nursing leader. She has worked as a consultant, traveling across the United States to help hospitals with redesign and process-improvement opportunities. Her expertise in improving throughput and hospital crowding has gained her national recognition, and she is a sought-after speaker on the topic. Delaney holds her CEN and is an active member of the ENA. She has published several articles and has been a chapter author for books on Emergency Nursing. Deb currently works as Clinical Implementation Lead for Mednition, an Artificial Intelligence software company in California.

Deb will be speaking on Coaching and Feedback to Lead Your Team to Success

Deb will compare the generations of employees in health care today and recognize differences that exist. Discuss the new generation about to enter the workplace and identify the opportunities and challenges that they bring with them.

Learning Objectives:

- 1-Participants to create solutions to prevent burn out, increase engagement and improve patient care.
- 2-participant will have ideas on implementing change

References:

Pending