Pre-Sessions

7:30-8:00am Pre-Session Registration

8:00-12:00n

Skills Workshop for Special Needs Populations

Susan Chalupa Breese, RN, MICP – Via Health System
Margaret Gallagher, RN, CEN – Vassar Brothers Medical Center
Susan D. Knapp, RN, MS, CEN – Highland Hospital

Even the most experienced emergency care provider may have difficulty performing procedures on certain populations. Through lecture and hands-on simulations, participants of this workshop will learn techniques to help improve care for the geriatric, morbidly obese, and patients with long term venous access devices as well as tricks to improve success when faced with "the difficult IV stick."

Sponsored by Laerdal Medical

8:00-12:00n

12 Lead EKG Workshop

Steve Burns, RN, MS, NP
Patricia Sorriano RN, MS, NP
Hudson Valley Heart Center

When combined with clinical assessment, 12 lead EKG can provide vital information with which to guide the treatment of the patient. Although treatment for cardiac disease has changed significantly, the technology behind EKG has changed little since its invention. Proficiency in interpretation is as valuable as understanding how to read and write for the ED nursing professional. There are many approaches to interpreting the EKG. This workshop will provide the participant with an opportunity to learn and practice techniques for easier, more confident EKG interpretation.

12:30-1:00pm

Pre-Session Registration

1:00-5:00pm

Mentoring Workshop

Susan Chalupa Breese, RN, MICP
Janice Francischine, RN, MS

One of the challenges for all nurses is "how do we share our knowledge with nurses and members of the emergency care team in a supportive manner?" This course describes the characteristics of the adult learner, stages of knowledge acquisition, and the art of mentoring in the emergency care environment.

1:00-5:00pm

Emergency Nursing Care of the Older Adult

Margaret Doyle, RN, MSN, CCRN
Susan D. Knapp, RN, MS, CEN
Highland Hospital

As the population ages it is imperative for the emergency nurse to improve their competency in caring for the older adult. This course will provide participants with information to enhance their nursing care of the geriatric patient in the ED setting. It will include changes in the physiological and psychological normal aging processes, delirium and dementia, triage assessment, discharge process, pain management and more.

2:00- 3:30

Tour of Laerdal Medical Corporation

Come see the home base of the company that supplies many of the learning tools used by health care providers today & experience their state of the art simulation learning lab. Cost of program is for transportation. – Registration limited to 10.

Risky Business: Creating a Culture of Safety in the ED

Nancy Bonalumi, RN, MS, CEN
President, Emergency Nurses Association

*Emergency Departments are a high risk environment for the provision of safe patient care. Creating a safety net around clinical practice to prevent injury is needed. Learn about one ED's journey to creating this safe place for its patients. Sponsored by Janssen Ortho-McNeil

10:20-10:40am

Coffee with Exhibitors

E SCHEDULE

10:40-12:00pm

Breakout Sessions

A. Pediatric Asthma Update

Brian Callahan, RN, PhD, ENP
Maverick Family Health Center

The incidence of asthma in children has increased dramatically in the past decade. Pediatric asthma pathophysiology and signs and symptoms of emergent asthma attacks will be described. This program will clarify the subtle and glaring changes of a decompensating asthmatic and what the short and long term treatment plans are to prevent asthma exacerbations. Sponsored by Zoll Medical

B. Horizontal Violence

Bill Briggs, RN, MSN, CEN
Nurse Manager, Brigham Women's Medical Center

Horizontal Violence (AKA horizontal hostility, "eating their young," "bitching, back-stabbing and bickering") is very common among nurses and can have a profound negative effect on your work environment. Learn what you can do to identify and address horizontal hostility in your department. This course will present research on the issue and ways to identify and remedy the problem.

12:00-1:30pm

Awards Luncheon

Dessert with the Exhibitors

1:30-3:00pm

C. Pediatric Sexual Assault

Nancy Donalumi, RN, MS, CEN

Treating the pediatric victim of sexual assault requires great skills by the ED nurse. In addition to the physical injury sustained, attention must be paid the psychosocial and developmental needs of the child, as well as providing care in the context of family dynamics. This presentation will address the medical and social care required for this vulnerable population.

D. Psychological Effects of Life Altering Illness

Lori Nash, MA
Research Project Manager
Nathan Kline Institute of Psychiatric Research Education

Illnesses such as heart disease, cancer and major trauma can have life altering consequences for patients and their families. This presentation describes the psychological factors of a medical illness and how those factors effect specific illnesses such as heart disease, cancer, trauma and different treatment modalities. Sponsored by St. Francis Hospital and Health Centers

3:00-4:30pm

E. Infectious Disease Update

Ernie Clement, RN, MSN, CIC
Director of Infection Control, Seaton Health System

Since the events of the fall of 2001 the nature, scope and importance of infection control and emergency preparedness have expanded. In order to provide quality care professionals in emergency nursing, medicine and EMS must adapt to the changing nature of infectious disease and learn to protect themselves. Early detection of an infectious disease event whether manmade or natural is an important public health concern.

F. Recreational Drug Update

Michele Calvia RN, CSP1
Upstate Regional Poison Center

What are the latest recreational drugs being used by the school and college age students? This program will describe the signs and symptoms of drug intoxication and the most current treatment modalities.

4:30-5:30pm

Bringing the Magic of Disney to Your Workplace

Bill Briggs, RN, MSN, CEN

Much of the Magic of Disney can be attributed to their passionate dedication to customer service. Learn how Disney's principles can be applied to your ED. This session explores all aspects of the ED customer service experience and relates how Disney principles can be applied to your ED.

5:30-6:15pm
